INTRODUCING WOLF LEAD-FREE X-RAY PROTECTIVE APRONS

April 19, 2011, Deer Park, NY – Wolf X-Ray Corporation, a leading US manufacturer of x-ray products for 80 years, announces the introduction of Wolf Lead-Free X-Ray Protective Aprons for medical, dental and veterinary use.

Wolf Lead-Free Aprons provide 0.50mm lead equivalency protection, equal to that of traditional lead aprons, but are 24% lighter. Made of environmentally-friendly, non-toxic materials, patients, doctors, radiologists and technicians will appreciate the lighter weight, greater flexibility and increased comfort these aprons provide. Professionals that wear protective clothing often during the day will experience less fatigue. All Wolf Lead-Free Aprons are available in traditional colors and new, exciting patterns including Tye-Dye, Hawaiian, Camouflage and Paw Prints. For added protection, separate thyroid collars are available as well.

Founded in 1932, Wolf X-Ray is a leading US manufacturer and distributor of medical x-ray film, illuminators and accessories for the radiography professional. Headquartered in Deer Park, New York, Wolf products are sold through distributors all around the world.
